DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. The term "average" in claim 1 et seq. is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "average" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory obviousness type double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory obviousness type double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-29 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting over claims 1-29 of copending Application No. 09,570,113. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that copending application since the referenced copending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: Both applications disclose a sanitary napkin which has lateral flexibility and extends into the gluteal groove having a high breathability defined in terms of air permeability in 09,570,113 and in terms of moist vapor transmission rate in 09,829,391. The two terms are interchangeable. The remaining specific structural limitations can either be said to have been obviously implied by equivalent language in the claims of the patent, or certainly clear from the disclosure of the above cited patent.

Reading claims 1-29 of the application in light of the specification, the examiner finds that claims 1-29 merely recite an obvious variant of the invention already disclosed in claims 1-29 of U.S. Application No. 09,440,113
